Tripper is a rock-hard display font family. The six styles – from Light to Black – of this robust stencil typeface will assure your text grabs all the attention it can get. Instead of settings large amount of texts, just use this font for a small amount of words. Or even better: just one word. But most importantly: make it really, really, really big.

The lightest weight is pretty condensed, and slowly expands when the weight increases. The bridges – essential to a stencil font – have the same width across all styles, so you can safely apply all styles in the same size without the risk of stencils falling apart. Due to the absence of curves throughout the whole family, Tripper is suitable for more limited, industrial applications too.

Tripper is equipped with a bunch of OpenType features, like different figure styles, fractions, superiors, etcetera, etcetera. But if all the OpenType dingdong is not enough for you, just try the ornaments. The separate ornament font comes with icons, indicators, manicules, banderoles and patterns. Enough to play around with for the rest of the year.

Tripper Stencil shares the same 6 styles with the regular Tripper family, from Light to Black. The funny business of Tripper Stencil is the automatic stencil borders around each letter, word or line. You don't have to do anything, all goes automatically. No matter how long your word, line, paragraph or document is.

Oh my God! Some people just love the option of having inline accents. Seriously, they exist.

Those people can sleep safely. All Tripper fonts offer the possibility to funk up some capitals with fancy inline accents!

Tripper Rough shares the same 6 styles with the regular Tripper family, from Light to Black.
The thing is that Tripper Rough is, well... rough. With many alternates for each letter, chances are small you'll encouter the same glyph twice, enough for 'that random look'. If you're in for a challenge: cut Tripper Rough out of foil and glue it to your window. Good luck!

For those who enjoyed the grunge vibe in the nineties, this one is for you. In case you want to raise the grunge level of Tripper Rough, there are 2 options. You can create borders at the beginning and the end of a word, as you've been spraying too enthusiastically. And with stylistic sets you can raise the grunge level by randomly swinging all letters across the page. Warning: not for amateurs!

If you enjoyed the grunge vibe in the nineties, this one is for you: Raise the grunge level with Stylistic Sets. This page shows the default settings.

STYLISTIC SET 7 GRUNGE

Stylistic Set 07 (aka Grunge) will swing all characters around and randomise their spacing. Whoppa, makes those letters dance.

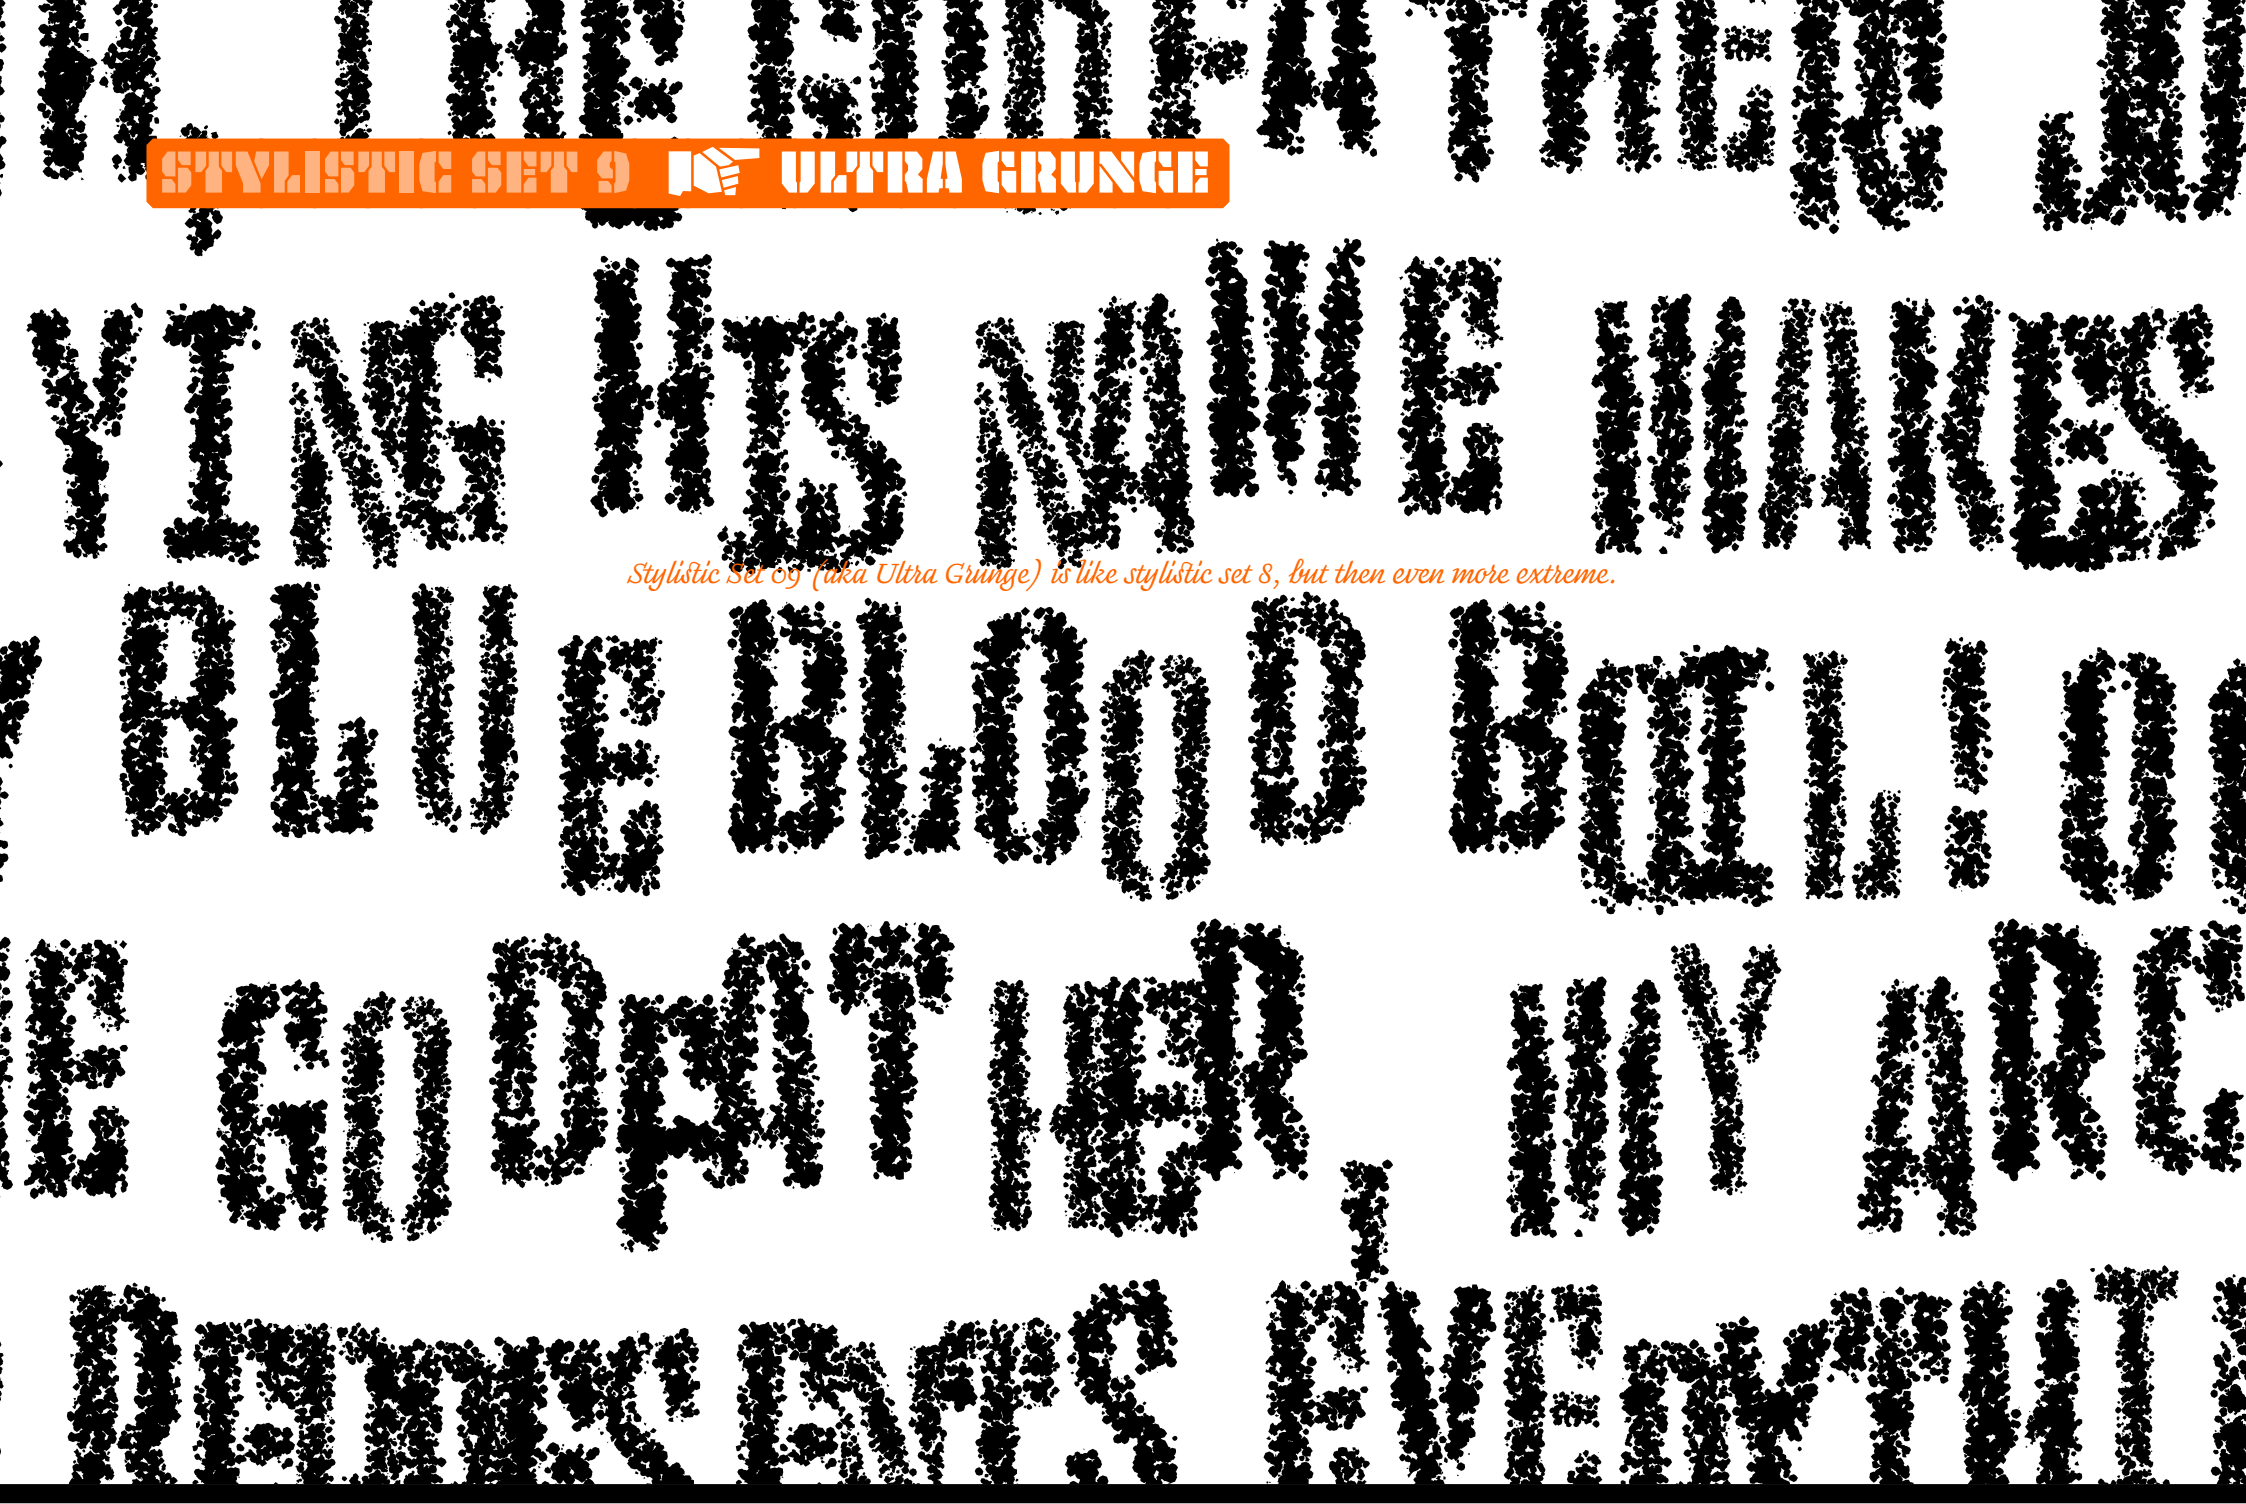
STYLISTIC SET 8 SUPER GRUNGE

Stylistic Set 08 (aka Super Grunge) is like stylistic set 7, but then more extreme

STYLISTIC SET 9 ULTRA GRUNGE



Stylistic Set 09 (aka Ultra Grunge) is like stylistic set 8, but then even more extreme.

All 3 = to the max!

Here is the fun part!

These stylistic sets can be activated simultaneously. Gain hyper grunge level! Combine stylistic set 7 (Grunge) & set 8 (Super grunge). Or even better: combine all three sets at the same moment!

The usage of these combinations are however very limited & not recommended for amateurs.

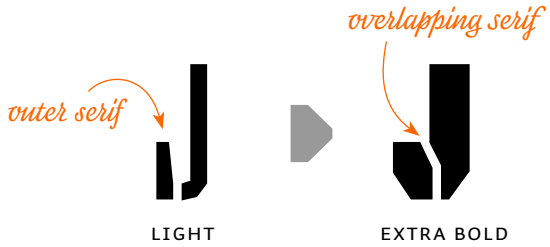
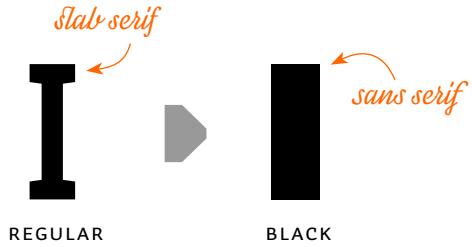
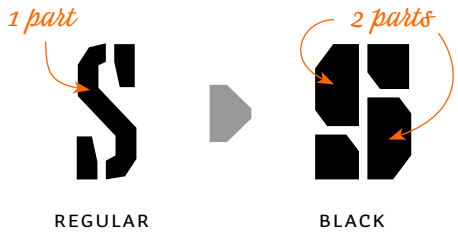
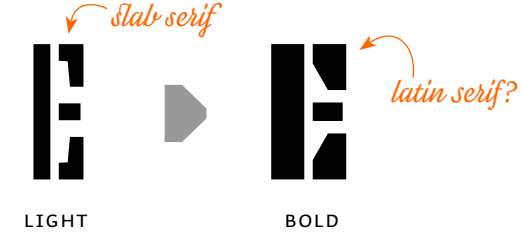
DETAIL 01
NON INTERPOLATABLE SHAPES

Although the six styles of Tripper belong together, they don't fluidly interpolate from one style to the other. Don't be surprised if differences in the design of characters come up while combining different fonts. Here are some examples of the differences between the same character in different weights. ▶



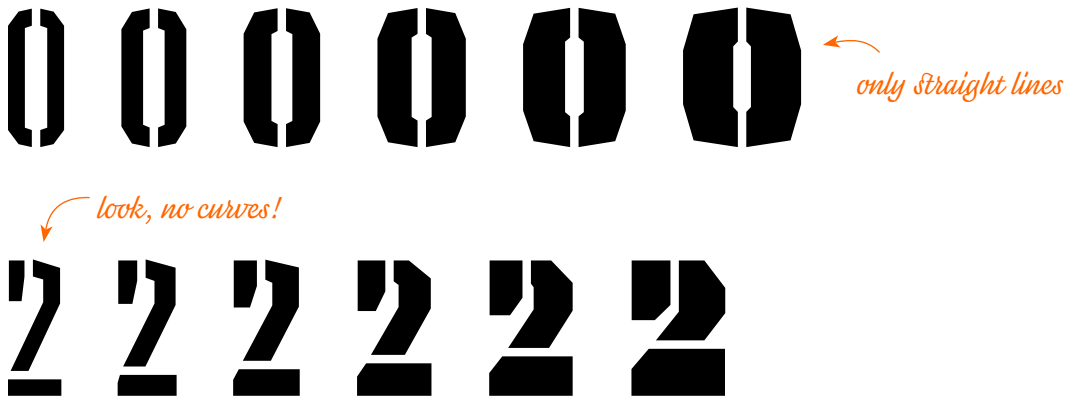






DETAIL 02
NO CURVES

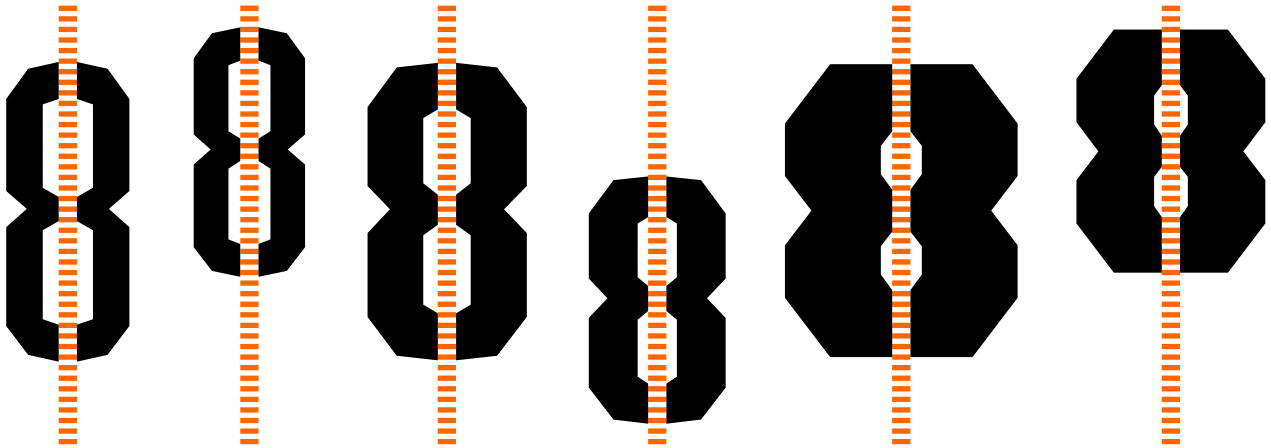
If you look closely, or even from afar, you will quickly notice a complete absence of curves throughout the whole font family. Not a single curve? Yep, only straight lines. This can be handy if you end up in a situation where producing curves is complicated, but also when you are just not in the mood for curves. ▶



DETAIL 03
EQUAL BRIDGES

The bridges – essential to a stencil font – have the same width across all styles, so you can safely apply all styles in the same size without the risk of stencils falling apart. A bridge in a large glyph, like capital A in Tripper Light, has exactly the same width as a bridge in a small glyph (like superior a) in Tripper Black. ▶

The bridges have the same width in every weight, but also in smaller glyphs, like superiors



DETAIL 04
OPENTYPE FEATURES

A whole bunch of OpenType features supply Tripper with some extra horsepower. Check the website for a complete overview. Here is one example: inline accents. Accents which don't exceed the height of the capital. The position (inside/outside) of the accents varies per letter per weight. ▶

What street artists say about Tripper

"Bravo, I find Tripper amusing. Good job!"
– Miss Tic, La Femme of Parisian stencil art scene

"I really like the design of Tripper overall, very unique and really cool. It's great that you thought of different weights, hands & icons, other languages, and I absolutely love the banderoles! All very nice touches. Most, if not all, stencil fonts only have one weight and the design is very poor. Tripper is well thought out and a great design."
– Jerry Inscoe, a classic West Coast graffiti fellow who has jumped into graphic & environmental design

"Tripper is rebel. Imagine this on a banner or picket sticks at a protest."
– Maser, controversial graffiti and street artist, Dublin, Ireland.

"Tripper looks awesome! It looks like you guys know what you're doing."
– Marc Moscato, author and street culture specialist, executive director of Know Your City, Portland, Oregon, USA

"Tripper is really nice – I really like that it is geometric without being sanitized. Aspects of it remind me of some of Rene Knip's architectural signage, as well as of aspects of Eugen Nerdinger and Lisa Beck's stencil lettering."
– Ian Lynam, designer, author of Parallel Strokes (a publication which juxtaposes type designers and graffiti artists), Tokyo, Japan
