

Ten Commandments of Type

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF TYPE

01.

You shall acknowledge that every thing is type.

02.

You shall not use the term type in another meaning.

03.

You shall give type a meaning.

04.

You shall not exclude any type.

05.

Honour those who taught you to read & write.

06.

You shall draw type you do not know of.

07.

You shall always make type,
especially when you are out of words.

08.

You shall respect the shoulders of giants.

09.

You shall not just stand on the shoulders of giants.

10.

You shall accept that type is both expression and implication.

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF TYPE was written and published by Underware on the occasion of their lecture on Sunday morning 13 May 2018 at the All Eyes on Type conference in Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Underware
Groenewegje 137
2515 LR Den Haag
The Netherlands
www.underware.nl
info@underware.nl

Under ware